

Article 64 — Episode four regarding where we might go and get

In an alternate future – instead of Article 64, this thing goes back for the process it deserves

- Proposals for Concord’s renewable sources are fit into its larger power plan, particularly for in-town generation
- A responsible proposal accounts real costs – then our dollars buy the carbon reduction that they might
- Any proposals brought forward for solar tell us reliably the parcels involved and what power they may yield, accurately
- Like other Light Plant proposals, back over time, the plan is vetted with the help of a neutral expert

Then

- We may even find a proposal for solar that fits Concord, particularly timing for solar that reflects sound thinking

And we may have a process that will stand us in good stead. And make us proud.
